

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES MAJOR

Transfer Plan for: DMACC

Iowa State University 2022 Catalog

Administered by the Department of Human Development and Family Studies

The Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS) curriculum leads to employment opportunities in the helping professions working with children, adults, and families in a variety of public and private human service agencies and organizations.

Students select one or more options within the major:

- Health, Wellbeing, and Prevention
- Advocacy, Administration, and Policy
- Child Development and Guidance*

Students interested in the non-licensure early childhood option should follow the Child Development and Guidance option. Students interested in a licensure early childhood option should consult an advisor in the Early Childhood Education major.*

(A more detailed description of each option can be found in the guide below.)

HOW TO READ THIS TRANSFER PLAN

This guide is designed for students to see how courses taken at a community college will transfer to Iowa State and within the Human Development and Family Studies major. On the left side, the “Iowa State University Course” is listed and on the right side, the exact match (course equivalent) is shown. If the right side is blank, the student will need to complete the course at Iowa State University.

This transfer plan has 3 parts

1. General Education courses for the HDFS major. (Note: an AA/AS degree does not satisfy this requirement. Iowa State will review each course.)
2. Required Classes for the HDFS Major
3. HDFS Program options (Choose one (1) option)

TRANSFER PLAN NOTES

- Maximum of 65 credits can be transferred to Iowa State University from a community college(s).
- Undergraduates who have a cumulative grade point average of 3.50 at the beginning of their final term are eligible to graduate “with distinction” provided they have completed 60 semester credits of coursework at Iowa State University at the time they graduate, including a minimum of 50 graded credits.

HD FS PROGRAM OPTIONS

Students select one option below within the major:

Health, Well-Being, and Prevention

For students interested in working directly with those who need support or assistance, such as individuals with disabilities, justice-involved individuals, or older adults.

Students may also be interested in working with populations who have been negatively impacted by societal issues such as trauma, abuse, substance use, and family instability.

HDFS provides strong preparation for these entry-level positions as well as for the graduate degree programs required for professional level work in these fields.

Advocacy, Administration, and Policy

For students interested in careers that involve advocacy and non-profit work. These students can combine their knowledge of human development and intervention with good administrative and management skills to work at non-profit organizations focused on solving social problems.

These jobs involve less direct service and more program coordination and planning, developing public information materials and advocating for social change.

Child Development and Guidance*

For students interested in working with young children. Students interested in careers that involve caring for and/or educating young children, will discover there are a number of opportunities within this option.

Students interested in the non-licensure early childhood option should follow the Child Development and Guidance option.*
